Frederick R. Blount of New York City, a graduate of Barre academy in the class of 1872, is passing a few days at Hotel Barre while here to join with alumni in a reunion. As a young man in the years immediately after the Civil war, Mr. Blount came on here from his home in Indiana and enrolled at the academy, living for three years in the home of Dr. Jacob S. Spaulding. He recalls one occasion when his father came to Vermont to visit the son. The talk led to a discussion of Barre's possibilities, and it was stated that Millstone hill could be bought for $100,000. Young Blount urged his father to make the purchase. Dr. Spaulding at that time was a strong advocate of a quarry railroad, and wherever he went in this vicinity to speak he invariably mentioned the railroad plan. Mr. Blount states that the movement for a memorial to Dr. Spaulding will enlist the aid of many prominent alumni, a list of which would include among others, Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Co. Mr. Blount is making his first visit to Barre since 1893.

PROPOSE SPAULDING MEMORIAL.

Old Barre Academy Students Organize an Association for the Purpose.

At a memorable gathering of Barre academy alumni in this city yesterday, a movement looking toward the erection of a suitable memorial to Dr. and Mrs. Jacob S. Spaulding took tangible form in the organization of an association. Thirteen members of classes in the early '70's came together, some of them for the first time in more than 40 years. A reunion dinner at Hotel Barre was followed by a gathering in the chapel at Spaulding high school, which was placed at the disposal of the older graduates through the courtesy of Prin. H. H. Jackson.

In the party who dined together and afterward gathered on the old grounds for reminiscences were Mr. and Mrs. George E. C. Wheaton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Averill, Mrs. Flora Peck Burnham, Mrs. Carrie Bowles Carpenter of Montpelier, Mrs. Clara Peck Osmond of Lynn, Mass., Virgil E. Ayers, Louis F. Babbitt of Northampton, Mass., Fred B. Blount of New York City, Gregory Carleton of Marblehead, Mass., John H. Polard of Fair Haven and Prof. W. A. Wheaton.

While the informal gathering at the high school was in progress, many letters of regret from all parts of the country were received. Naturally, recollections of old days at the academy centered around the revered names of Dr. Spaulding, "Uncle Jake," as he was lovingly called, and his faithful wife. Tribute was paid to his prophetic eye as a man of affairs, as well as a ripe scholar. His early enthusiasm for the development of Barre granite found expression in his advocacy of a quarry railroad. He foresaw the day when Barre would make remarkable strides, and some of the changes that have come about were interestingly discussed by his students yesterday.

Among those from whom letters were received were Mrs. Ella Bacon Clark of Stillwater, Minn., Mrs. Frances Comings Parker of St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Fannie Carleton Dike of Chicago, and Dr. Leonard K. Graves of New York City.

The Barre Academy association, formed for the purpose of securing funds for a memorial, has for its officers Frederick R. Blount as president, W. A. Wheaton as vice-president, Mrs. Flora P. Burnham as secretary and treasurer. A committee made up of C. W. Averill, V. E. Ayers and Miss Carrie Wheelock was elected to co-operate with the Barre Board of Trade and citizens in the memorial project. An appeal to all alumni of the academy is to be made, and it is stated that any former student of the academy may consider this notice, should it chance to meet his eye, as an invitation to aid in the movement. It is hoped that older graduates, who had their tutelage from Dr. Spaulding, will be especially interested in the move to commemorate in granite and bronze his achievements for Barre and the cause of education. Men who have made their mark in the world of affairs have gone out from the old Barre academy, and the response to the appeal is expected to be prompt and spontaneous.

Later in the afternoon, the alumni went to Elmwood cemetery, where choice flowers, contributed by former students, were strewn over the Spaulding family lot. In the evening, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. C. Wheaton entertained the party at a reception at their home on Kinney street.

City Council Considers Langdon Meadow for Municipal Playground.

The city council at a special meeting held Monday evening accepted the report of the aldermanic committee which made a trip to St. Albans last week and interviewed Central Vermont railway officials relative to using Langdon meadow for a municipal playground. The committee reported that the railroad company offered the city the use of the land for the amount of the taxes, any portion of the field not in use by the city, however, to be used by the company, which would have the right to operate that portion for its revenue and benefit. Hot Weather Rules.

1. Load lightly and drive slowly.

2. Stop in the shade if possible.

3. Water your horse as often as possible. So long as a horse is working, water in small quantities will not hurt him. But let him drink only a few swallows if he is going to stand still. Do not fail to water him at night after he has eaten his hay.

4. When he comes in after work, sponge off the harness marks and sweat, his eyes, his nose and mouth, and the dock. Wash his feet but not his legs.

5. If the thermometer is 75 degrees or higher, wipe him all over with a damp sponge, using vinegar water if possible. Do not wash the horse at night.

6. Saturday night, give a bran mash, lukewarm; and add a tablespoonful of saltpeter.

7. Do not use a horse-hat, unless it is a canopy-top hat. The ordinary bell-shaped hat does more harm than good.

8. A sponge on top of the head, or even a cloth, is good if kept wet. If dry it is worse than nothing.

9. If the horse is overcome by heat, get him into the shade, remove harness and bridle, wash out his mouth, sponge him all over, shower his legs, and give him two ounces of aromatic spirits of ammonia, or two ounces of sweet spirits of nitre, in a pint of water; or give him a pint of coffee warm. Cool his head at once, using cold water, or, if necessary, clopped ice, wrapped in a cloth.

10. If the horse is off his feed, try him with two quarts of oats mixed with bran, and a little water; and add a little salt or sugar. Or give him oatmeal gruel or barley water to drink.

11. Watch your horse. If he stops sweating suddenly, or if he breathes short and quick, or if his ears droop, or if he stands with his legs braced sideways, he is in danger of a heat or sun stroke and needs attention at once.

12. If it is so hot the horse sweats in the stable at night, tie him outside, with bedding under him. Unless he cools off during the night, he cannot well stand the next day's heat.

The rules are prepared by the Boston Work-Horse Relief association, whose office is at 15 Beacon street, Boston, Mass. We also publish stable rules, drivers' rules and noon-feeding rules. Copies of any of these rules will be sent free on application. Our office is open throughout the year.
